

This style sheet contains guidelines for preparing a Semantics-Syntax Interface manuscript.

The Manuscript

- a. Prepare the manuscript in a 12-point font with serifs (e.g., Times Roman).
- b. Leave at least a 1.5-inch/3-cm margin on all sides of the paper.
- c. Double-space all material except linguistic trees.
- d. Number footnotes (rather than endnotes) consecutively. The acknowledgment footnote (to individuals or grant-giving institutions) should appear as the first note. Do not number the acknowledgment footnote.
- e. Number all manuscript pages.
- f. The editors request that article manuscripts (research articles and review articles) be limited to 40 manuscript pages, and squib manuscripts to 20 manuscript pages.

Examples, tables, and figures

- a. Number examples, trees, tableaux, and so forth, in one continuous sequence.
- b. All examples presented in the text must adhere to the Leipzig Glossing Rules. (www.eva.mpg.de/lingua/resources/glossing-rules.php).
- c. In numbering examples in the text, use arabic numerals in parentheses. If several example sentences are numbered together, use a numeral in parentheses for the entire group and a lowercase letter of the alphabet followed by a period for each sentence.

(5) a. ki čī mi-xor-e (Persian)

who what DUR-eat-3SG

'Who eats what?'

b. *Who what eats?

- d. In numbering examples in footnotes, use lowercase roman numerals.

(i) a. Who eats what?

b. *Who what eats?

(ii) a. Who went where?

b. *Who where went?

- e. Number figures and tables (e.g. Figure 1, Figure 2, and so on) and give them titles. All figures and tables should be within the main body of the text (not on separate pages).

References

- a. Be consistent throughout the manuscript.
- b. Arrange text references by date. To separate a page, chapter, or section reference from the date, use a colon (no space). Spell out the person's first name when citing personal communications.

As pointed out by von Fintel and Iatridou (2007:fn. 32), ...

Kratzer (1981:sec. 3) points out that ...

- c. The reference list should include all and only the works mentioned in the manuscript. Arrange the entries in the reference list alphabetically by authors' last names. List multiple works by one author chronologically.
